

Northern Lights Academy
Rigolet
presents

“Campfire Storytelling”

Cast:

Chelsea Shiwak..... Cindy
Emily Wolfrey..... Ursula
Dinah Wolfrey..... Pam
Pam Campbell..... Sherlock Becky (Baikie)
Jennifer Michelin..... Myrtle
Roxi Wolfrey..... Rocky

Teacher Advisors

Gail Williams
Marie Rich

Setting: Arriving at Snook's Cove, carrying their bags, chit chatting setting things up.

Cindy: That trail needs to get flattened out with that big dump truck thingy.

Myrtle: Technically its proper name is a groomer. Its purpose is to smooth out.....

Ursula : Duh!! We get it. Shut up.

Myrtle: How dare you insinuate that I should tolerate such diabolical incidences from an inferior creature such as yourself whose mental intellectuality has not yet fully developed. You should feel inferior to me your superior and try not to comprehend things to complicated for your small simple cerebrum.

Cindy: (honking horn) We didn't come for a lecture. We came for fun! (Honks horn again)

(Thunder Sounds)

Rocky: Someone should go and get some firewood. Sounds like a storm is coming.

Cindy: I'll do it .

Myrtle: I don't think that's a good idea.

Ursula: (Hops up right excited) Oh let me. I love getting wood with the old man's beard on it. (Everyone else is getting ready for lunch)

Rocky : Be careful out there, wouldn't want old mother buck saw to get you.

Myrtle : (snort) You don't believe in those super-natural phonemes.

Rocky : Anânaga told me that mother buck saw is real .

Cindy : Did you hear about the man who saw a creature coming out of the water that had big dangling eyes, a long forked tongue the length of your arms, and.....

Myrtle : Oh goodness sakes, the man had a chemical induce hallucinations that was cause by.....

Rocky : Yeah he was on acid.

(Ursula runs back in, everyone jumps)

Ursula : Bear!, Bear!, Bear!

Cindy : Thank God, I'm so thirsty .

Rocky : You wouldn't want to drink that unless you had a really big blender first.

Cindy : What's a blender?

Ursula : Girls hello I heard something in the woods.

Rocky : Don't be scared boys. (Hauls out her slingshot) I have my handy dandy sling shot here.

(Rocky goes into the woods and comes back with a stuffed teddy bear. Everyone is waiting anxiously for Rocky to return, on edge, and scared.)

Rocky : Who lost this on the trail?

(Everyone is silent)

Pam : Ah, ah, that's mine.

(all laugh and point except Cindy who laughs after all is finished.)

Ursula : Ok, Ok Let's get this camp fire goin' (honks her horn again. Everyone busy around, chatting)

Myrtle : Yes, combing the head of the match that is first dipped in paraffin wax, a hydro carbon, and then into a mixture of glue, coloring a fuel and a compound that in a source of oxygen. Is my favorite.....

Rocky : Would you just light the match already....

(All gather around to light the fire and have wieners and marshmallows.)

Ursula : Hey guys have you ever heard the story....

(Proceeds to tell the story. Others join in with their own stories.)

Cindy : You know what's scary? One day I was watching' a movie and it was really dark and I went to get a drink and just as I was opening it my nail broke and I had a date that night with the hottest guy in school.

Ursula : So that's what happened. You told my brother that your plant of 15 years up rooted and took off.

Cindy : (giggles nervously) Oh yeah.

Rocky : I got a story for you that will gross you right out. There was this man and women, and they had two kids, and one day the man went out to his traps and when he got home from his traps his wife was so hungry that she.....

Cindy : Don't tell me she ate her kids!!

Rocky : Heard that story before eh!?

Pam : I have a story to tell that happened and its real.

All : Oh yeah right!

Pam : It is because it happened to me. One summer night, my father dropped me, Ivy, and Stephanie off up here at Snook's Cove for the night...this same exact spot. He dropped us off up here around eight or eight thirty. It was a nice evening, very peaceful. We set our tent and had something to eat. A storm hit, thunder and lighting, it was pouring down rain. I got a little worried about my father, because he was out in boat. After it calmed down and it stopped raining, we clean up our dishes and played a few games of cards. It was getting a little late and we were a bit tired so we went outside to use the bathroom and I went over on the other side of an old cabin, Stephanie waited for me out side the tent. As I was walking over to the other side of the cabin I looked down the shoreline. I could see a man. My first instinct was that it was my father and that something had happened to him. This man was wearing oil clothes, and the moonlight was shining on it. I kept watching as the man walked up the shore, he had a little limp and seemed to be my father, I panicked and asked Stephanie if she could see that man?...The man kept walking towards us and stopped at Sherlock Baikie's Cabin. He leaned on a saw horse and looked our way. Stephanie freaked out and ran into the woods with Ivy, as I realized that this man wasn't my father I ran after her. We met up with Ivy in the woods and we all walked back out together, there was no one to be found.

(All just stare at her)

All: I think we should go home now.